First Week Of Rookie Training

drill ground or going through the various drills would never dream that the organization was but one week old. The truth of the matter is that perhaps 90 per cent of the recruits have had previous military experience and that a general high order of intelligence combined with superior instruction has made possible results that under less favorable circumstances would require months to accomplish.

Work Not Too Hard

Capt. Hunt has the rare faculty of getting the other fellow's viewpoint, and he is constantly impressing the importance of this. It is for this reason that there is little fear that the men in his camp will ever be seriously overworked. The drills, "setting-up" exercises, hikes, etc., while vigorous, have not yet caused a single man to drop out of ranks. They are becoming more strenuous daily, but as muscles become accustomed to unusual work the tasks become lighter. Aside from some sunburned noses and a few blisters on hands unaccustomed to handling a rifle, no one has suffered from the work. On the contrary, a large percentage of the men have acquired an erect and active carriage which they did not have when they arrived.

Made A Good Impression

Urged by Capt. Hunt to not stay at the Barracks over Sunday, almost all of the Company went to Honolulu on Saturday afternoon returning Sunday evening in time for dinner. It was the first time any of them had been to town since the camp was organized. The red, white and blue hat cords and the neat chevron on the left arm with letters "U. S. T. C." attracted general attention and much favorable comment. Most of the boys spent the time with admiring families or friends eager to hear the details of training camp life, and if the embryo officers carried themselves with somewhat self-conscious erectness, it was merely due to their surroundings. Here at the camp this carriage is rapidly becoming fixed, and round shoulders are being straightened as by magic.

Good Food

While the service is not off damask linen, but instead is from a bare but whitely scrubbed table top, the food supplied the rookie officers is both abundant and good as to quality and preparation. Skilled cooks prepare everything in palatable and hygienic manner, and thus far not a single kick has been heard. The men have ample variety and apparently the supply is never exhausted.

Strict Care Of Feet

Up at 5:30 o'clock every morning, the men have made up their beds, bathed, shaved, eaten breakfast and thoroughly polished the building and grounds by 7:05 o'clock, when the drill hour comes around. From then till 11:30 the company is given a setting up drill, a sharp double-time chase across a steep little ravine, (perhaps several times,) and then usually a several mile hike, to probably be finished up by an hour of close order or manual of arm drill.

Last Friday, on returning from the hike, the men were required to sit on the ground and remove leggings, shoes and stockings, while the officers carefully looked for evidences of poor fitting foot-gear. Where such was found new shoes were ordered or other remedies prescribed. The care of the feet of the fighting man of today is second only to the care of his diet and general health, for a soldier that can't walk is not only no good to the army but a liability as well.

Big Party Going To Honolulu

gates are known. The committee urgently requests all bodies which have not yet made their choice, or made it known to the central committee, to do so at once.

Although the delegates do not actively enter upon their duties until the morning of Monday, September 17, they will arrive bright and early for the aquatic sports of Regatta Day, Saturday, the 15th.

Sunday the Honolulu Automobile Club will take the visiting delegates and their accompanying wives and relatives for an auto trip, stopping at the Halewa hotel and returning by way of Schofield Barracks and the Lihue plain.

The same night the delegates will assemble as a body for the first time at union services to be held in the Central Union Church.

Monday morning the convention will assemble for organization at the Lanika Theater, a conveniently central location. All business sessions will be held in the same place.

The first of these will be held Monday afternoon and the remaining two on Tuesday morning and afternoon.

Between sessions the program is full of recreation. Monday afternoon the ladies will be the guests of the Outrigger Club at a tea given on the beach at Waikiki. Monday evening both the delegates and their guests will take dinner at Lanika at the invitation of the Pan-Pacific Club. And a little later still they will all troop off to the Ad Club show in the Bijou theater.

Tuesday the Y. W. C. A. will take the ladies in hand for the day. After adjournment that afternoon, the delegates will wind up their stay with a banquet at the Moana hotel,—the first "dry" banquet the convention ever has held.

In view of the growing sentiment on Oahu for prohibition and the belief that the federal authorities are shortly to close all saloons as the only way in which bootlegging to soldiers can be stopped, the central committee voted this year that the customary cocktail should be omitted. It was felt that any other decision would be received as an affront by the general public.

Pertinent Paragraphs

"Red Cross" every Friday from 1 to 5 P. M. Alexander House, Waikuku.

Red Cross pledge Cards may be had at Waikuku Bank at any time and at the Red Cross Rooms, every Friday from 1 to 5.—Adv.

E. C. Moore, has purchased the homestead of E. Herrick Brown, at Kulaha and is going in for poultry and dairying.

The Haiku Farmers' Association did not meet last Monday as announced but will hold their election of officers on Saturday night, September 8.

Mr. G. K. Larrison, former territorial hydrographer, has received word of his commission as a captain in the engineers. He is at present in the Reserve Training Camp, Honolulu, and may be called away from Hawaii at any time.

Etsaku Takaki, an employee of the Maui Agricultural Company, was badly scalded by the bursting of a boiler tube at the Maliko Pump Station, Hamakunoko, on August 21st. His death followed on the 26th. He is survived by a wife and two children.

Owing to an extremely high surf running last Monday night, passengers at Lahaina, intending to go to Honolulu were unable to board the Mauna Kea, and returned to their respective homes instead. The Claudine had an extra large passenger list last Wednesday in consequence.

The upper ditch at Makawao is practically dry, so that Maunaloa Seminary and Sunnyside have had to resort to the cistern supply and that is running low. The Baldwin Home and places lower down have a supply from the lower ditch which so far remains available.

The Civic Convention program will devote Tuesday, September 18, to the subject of food conservation. J. J. Walsh, of Kahului, has been assigned the problem of the marketing and sale of farm products of the Territory at a reasonable price, and Harold Rice of Makawao will talk on the growing and curing of hay.

The last consignment of Eastern sugar, for some time, from Kahului was taken on board the Texan the end of last week amounting to 1641 tons. Her total cargo is 15,500 tons, which consists of 5657 tons from Hilo, and 6200 from Oahu. The Texan left Kahului last Monday night for Hilo, and will then proceed to the Coast. It is rumored that the Texan will not be on the local run following this trip.

Henry Mossman, formerly of Maui, but recently a resident of Washington, is now a member of the Aviation Corps as corporal of the Tenth Aero Squadron at Rantoul, Illinois. In a communication, to his parents, he mentions having been sent to New Orleans, says the Advertiser, and was then ordered back to join his squadron which was preparing to depart for New York thence to service in France.

A grass fire of mysterious origin, on the homesteads of Mrs. E. A. Turner and W. I. Wells, was the occasion for a general alarm, and all the men of the neighborhood worked briskly from six P. M. to half past eight before the last blaze was extinguished. The fire seemed to have started at least three different points and owing to the extremely dry condition of the land spread rapidly. About six acres of gulch land, was burned over but the fire was luckily stopped before it reached any planted areas.

New Church Is Now Open For Service

an edifice that we assemble ourselves together this morning. This building was erected to perpetuate the memory of a man who did justly, loved mercy, and walked humbly with his God. About him we can say as was said of a man in the old Testament, "The Lord shall count when he writeth up his people, that this man was born in Zion." It is altogether fitting that a memorial to Mr. Baldwin should take the shape of a House of Worship. This building is an expression of devotion. It is a hymn and prayer in wood and stone. It is a religious service in itself. A house of worship such as this makes it known to all who see it, that God has a people in this place, that Christ has a church. The mission of the modern church is to perpetuate the ministry of the Master on earth.

The speaker also emphasized such lessons to be learned, as consecration to service; and fit equipment for service, comprising such divine attributes as sympathetic insight, and compassion, these being emotions which became transmuted into actions, in Christ's life.

The music was an especially fine feature of the service. Mrs. G. K. Tackabury rendered with rare effectiveness, a contralto solo, "Rock Of Ages," and H. W. Baldwin with Mrs. L. C. Jones were never heard to better advantage, than in the duet "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah". The chorus choir of over forty well-blended voices, sang under the direction of H. Washburn Baldwin, two splendid selections, Gounod's "Sanctus" and Faurer's "Gloria in Excelsis" from the Mass in B-Flat. Maui is to be especially congratulated on the acquisition of an organ such as was dedicated on Sunday. With a tone of wonderful dignity and yet sweet and sympathetic, religious interpretations given on it will acquire new depth and meaning. Miss Mary Hoffman presided at this instrument during the program.

Next Sunday, September 9th will mark the second of the two dedication services for the Memorial Church at Paia. This service will be participated in by old friends and associates of the late Mr. Baldwin, and will especially commemorate the installation of the Baptismal Font of the church.

Addresses will be given by Mr. William H. Rice, of Lihue, Kauai; Rev. Stephen L. Desha, of Hilo; Rev. J. Fukuda, of Paia; Rev. David White, of Lahaina; Rev. John P. Erdman and Rev. Frank Scudder, both of Honolulu.

Five choral numbers will be heard, two of which will be rendered by the Molokai choir, the West Maui Choir and the Paia Choir also giving numbers, while the Makawao Union Choir will sing the anthem "My Faith Looks Up To Thee".

Well Qualified

A judge presiding over a court in Washington was administering the oath to a boy of tender years, and to him put the following question:

"Have you ever taken the oath; do you know how to swear, my boy?"

Whereupon the lad responded: "Yes sir. I am your caddy at the Chevy Chase Club."—Puck.
